GRAND JURY SEES "THE LURE."

"Some Play," One Member Says as He Leaves.

Twenty-two members of the Grand Jury saw a private performance last night of "The Lure" at the Madison Theatre. This is one of the two plays which were withdrawn after Monday night on the complaint of Chief Magistrate McCaddoo, who considered them unfit for public performance. The play was issued warrants for the producers. After the warrants were issued Lee Shubert, the producer, agreed to withdraw "The Lure" and abide by the decision of the Grand Jury. It was his intention that they were present last night.

Assistant District Attorney Perkins accompanied them to the play, and at his request Mr. Shubert was obliged to exclude newsboys and curiosity seekers. The members of the jury had brought friends with them, but they were not allowed to enter. There were over sixty in the party turned away. Others who did see the performance were Deputy Police Commissioner Newburger, William Klein, counsel for the Shuberts; Mr. Perkins, Lee and J. J. Shubert, Lee Fields, who is associated with the Shuberts, and a fireman.

The play began at 8 o'clock and was over before 10 o'clock. None of the jury-men would comment on the play.

"Some play," said one, speaking to two companions. That was all the information the reporters could get.

Deputy Police Commissioner Newburger would not discuss the play, but said that he understood the Grand Jury would render its decision to-day or Monday. Mr. Klein said that it would be today.

The other play to meet with police interference, "The Fight," by Bayard Veiller, resumed its interrupted run last night at the Hudson Theatre. During the two days that the theatre was closed the author cut out the second act, showing the interior of a house of ill repute, and made it a three act instead of a four act play. The second act was the one which met with Magistrate McCaddoo's disapproval. The action formerly shown in the second act was explained to the audience in the following act by dialogue.

Chief Inspector Schmittberger was present at last night's performance, accompanied by a stenographer and the secretary of one of the Deputy Police Commissioners. The inspector would not discuss the play.

There was a large attendance at last night's performance.

BUYS GREAT DUTCH PAINTINGS.

Francis Kleinberger Soon to Bring Famous Van Rider Collection Here.

Francis Kleinberger, head of the Kleinberger picture firm of Paris with New York galleries at 709 Fifth avenue, notified his firm here that he has bought the important collection of paintings by Dutch and Flemish masters of the seventeenth century gathered together by the late Herr von Rider of Schomburgk, near Frankfurt, a collection for which Herr von Rider at one time refused an offer of $2,400,000. The announcement was given out by the New York branch yesterday.

The collection, which includes three especially notable Rembrandts, will soon be sent here and will be placed on exhibition at the Kleinberger galleries in Fifth avenue during the coming winter. Manager Watson said that he did not care to say how much his firm had paid for the Von Rider pictures.

The firm calls this new purchase "The finest Dutch collection in the world." The paintings have been on exhibition at the Stadel Museum since the death of Herr von Rider in 1911. There are eighty-seven pictures in the collection.

The three most noted Rembrandts are "Flora," "A Young Girl at a Window" and a portrait of a Roman. There also are works by Rubens, Frans Hals, J. A. Kneller, and others.

Mr. Kleinberger said that he had bought the collection for $1,000,000. The pictures are now being crated for shipment at Frankfurt-on-the-Main.

GIRL WHO SUED DADY IS DANCER

Ending of $100,000 Action for Jilted Discloses Miss Dolly's Name.

Through the discontinuance yesterday of a suit by Rose Deutsch, through her mother, Margaret Deutsch, as her guarantor, to recover $100,000 from the late Michael J. Dady, wealthy Brooklyn contractor and Republican leader, it became known that the plaintiff is Miss Roseick Dady, the dancer now appearing in "Lieber Augustin." Her sister, Janszicka Dady, recently married Jerome Schwartz, the song writer.

Miss Dady brought her suit against Dady in 1910, alleging that December 5, 1908, in Havana, Cuba, he promised to marry her within a reasonable time after he returned to the United States on or about December 1, 1909. She said she had remained single ever since in reliance on his promise, but that Dady returned here on December 10, 1909, and on December 19 of that year married Miss Vera Campbell, member of the "Parisian Window" company.

Miss Dady said that Dady proposed marriage six times in two weeks after he met her.

GATES HERE LOOKING WELL.

Arrives on Special Train—Amused at Report of Sickness.

If Charles G. Gates was suffering from intestinal trouble, a despatcher to the effect that he was ill, would have been of little use to him when he stepped off his special train at the Pennsylvania station last night. He seemed to be in his usual robust mood and even laughed at the question of his illness.

The special was made up in Minneapolis and arrived at Chicago over the Rock Island at 11 P. M. It was accompanied by Mr. Gates' wife and accompanied him. They will stay at the Plaza.

DR. JONES LEFT $5,000,000.

All to His Wife—"General" Rosalie Jones Not Named in Will.

Dr. Oliver Livingston Jones, father of "General" Rosalie Jones of suffragette fame, who died at 115 West Seventy-second street, Manhattan, on August 9 last of a revolver wound, left a will, executed April 12, 1904, giving his entire estate, valued at $5,000,000, to his wife.

His children, Oliver L. Jr., Philip L., Louise E., Rosalie G. and Arthur Jones, were not named in the instrument, which was filed yesterday with Surrogate John J. Graham of Nassau county, at Mineola, L. I.

The widow and Charles H. Jones are named as executors. Increase of realty values in Manhattan, Brooklyn and on Long Island, where he had large holdings, has raised the value of the estate far beyond the sum at which it was usually been estimated. The exact value will not be known in advance of the appraisal.

Mrs. Mary Jones, the widow, has a fortune of her own supposed to be about $2,000,000.
